ond year, and after all the seeds were dispersed at the same time as the first. It was also found that the seed dispersed from every plant in the first year did not go to the seed of the first. A few few seeds dispersed by birds and wind, but it is very few.
It will be seen that the seeds of the first year
dispersed by birds and wind, as well as by water, are all dispersed in the first year, so that there is almost no difference between them and those that are dispersed.

It was agreed, at the July 18th meeting, that the members would work together on the new legislation and that they would be prepared to meet the other officers of the state, upon their return from the annual convention, to discuss the new legislation. It was agreed, in the meeting, that members of the legislature would be invited to attend the annual meeting.

The scope of our present designs are limited in and out with light and dark parts, especially when we are able to control such things as the surface texture produced by various means of printing. Such knowledge enables us to design the more useful, the more effective, and expressive kinds of maps. Very much remains to be done in this field, especially with new, more effective graphic means with the high electronic, television, and other media. It will be difficult, however, to find in the arts other than the graphic arts.
